

7-8 Social Studies Personal History Project

A personal history project is a way of rewarding you for participating in historical experiences outside of class. When you have completed a project, fill in this form. Remember: You must complete one project per quarter. Additional projects will count for extra credit. Students who are working on History Day projects may use their research and participation for their required project. Summer experiences may be used for the first quarter project only. If the project was done as a group each individual must fill in a form to get credit. Speakers, field trips, and games played in any CCS class may not be used for projects. Books read by everyone in your class may not count for credit, but you may get credit for Historical Fiction books which you use for book reports in Language Arts. Please talk to Mr. Ross if you have questions.
